HALF MILLION CAN BE SAVED

WORMS IN HOGS COST COUNTY THAT MUCH, SAYS BURCH.

EXPLAINS SANITATION

Feeding Costs Reduced 20 Per Cent by Eliminating Parasites, Specialist Maintains.

A half million dollars might be saved in Nodaway County each year if the hogs were raised on a worm-free method, J. W. Burch, specialist of the Missouri College of Agriculture, told a large delegation of farmers and students of the vocational agricultural department of the Maryville High School at the hog sanitation conference at the Farm Bureau office this afternoon.

Mr. Burch made his estimate from the fact that more than 200,000 hogs are sent to market from this county each year. Starting the year the estimate of hogs in the county was 151,000, he said.

"You'll save 20 per cent of your feeding costs if you feed healthy pigs," the specialist said, and he figured the 20 per cent which might be saved in this county easily mounts up to $500,000.

"The big fight in the hog sanitation plan is to keep young pigs off old hog lots until they are at least four months old," Mr. Burch pointed out to the thirty delegates and students attending the conference.

Hard to Get Started.

The first big problem, Mr. Burch said, "is to get this plan of raising pigs along sanitation methods into gear. I hope that you men who are here will go out into your school districts and preach hog sanitation whenever you can to your neighbors. This is the only method I see of advancing the cause of raising worm-free hogs."

Mr. Burch then commented that there is no such thing as raising hogs absolutely free of worms, but by following the sanitation methods advanced by the Missouri College of Agriculture, hogs can be raised so that they make more economical gains, and that is the purpose of the plan.

The first step in getting ready to raise hogs by the sanitation method is to get clean pastures, and this may be done by a rotation of crops, first corn, then clover, from which two crops of pigs can be raised before turning over the soil again, Mr. Burch said.

The morning session was spent in an explanation of what has been found to be the most satisfactory rations for swine, from young pigs to brood sows. An explanation was made at the beginning of the afternoon session as to how hogs are affected by worms and the means by which the worms are spread.

Hope Some Will Try It.

It was hoped at this afternoon's meeting that several of the delegates would volunteer to follow the hog sanitation process.

The men attending the sanitation conference:

Lowden Campaign to Open in Minnesota

St. Paul, Minn., Feb. 2.—State headquarters will be opened here next week by supporters of Frank O. Lowden of Illinois for the Republican nomination for president.

Upon receipt of word that Lowden would be filed in Illinois Saturday as a candidate, Claude Mackenzie, state senator, expressed the belief that Minnesota's delegation at the Republican convention will be instructed for the former Governor of Illinois.

Mackenzie is chairman of the Minnesota Lowden-for-President committee.

Maryville to Debate St. Joseph Tomorrow

Will Be First in Second Round.—Barnard and Martinsville Debate February 16.

Maryville high school will debate Central high school in St. Joseph at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning in the first debate of the second round of the state league series. Buster King and Ford Bradley will uphold the affirmative argument. They are to be accompanied to St. Joseph by their coach, Mrs. Vern Manley, Helen Busby and Marvin Shamberger. The party will drive.

The district league debate between Barnard and Martinsville which was postponed some time ago, has been set for February 16. It will take place at Barnard, with the team there supporting the negative side of the argument.

200 LICENSES ARE BOUGHT

77 STATE TAGS TO MARYVILLE RESIDENTS.

FOUR TO ROCK PORT

Only 42 City Plates Are Purchased Yesterday; Except Large State Sales Saturday.

Two hundred state licenses for automobiles had been sold at the branch office of the State License Bureau at the Chamber of Commerce at 2 o'clock this afternoon. Of this number 77 were sold to Maryville residents and 123 represent 26 towns in Northwest Missouri. Licenses going to persons the greatest distance from Maryville went to Rock Port. Four were sold to persons there.

The greatest number of licenses to any town outside of Maryville were sold to Parnell, where 13 plates went. Hopkins was second with eleven. Burlington, Clearmont, Barnard and Skidmore each ten.

Other towns and the number purchased follow:

Graham, four; Clyde, six; Elmo, five; Pickering, four; Conception Junction, three; Sheridan, four; Stanberry, one; Ravenwood, five; Guilford, four; Quitman, three; Wilcox, two; Rosendale, one; Tarkio, four; Bolckow, three; Blanchard, Ia., one; Braddyville, Ia., one; Westboro, one; Gentry, one; Grant City, one.

The records at the Chamber of Commerce show that not a single license has been purchased as yet for the new model Ford car revealing that none of the cars have been distributed in this territory.

Expect Rush Saturday.

If the weather is favorable Saturday the out-of-town sales will take a tremendous increase, it is predicted.

The Chamber of Commerce sold 168 state automobile and truck licenses yesterday. The first day receipts amounted to $2631. This is seventy-three licenses less than were sold last year on the first day sale.

The expected rush at the city hall yesterday for the purchase of city 1928 automobile licenses did not materialize. Only forty-two plates were sold.

Saved $74.59 Each.

Missouri motor car owners paid an average of $21.39 each into the state road fund in state license and gasoline tax fees during 1927, but received in return a saving of $74.59 per vehicle on lower operating costs of hard-surfaced roads. This was shown in estimates included in the annual report of the state highway department.

The report also revealed that in 1920 motorists in the state paid $7.11 a year into the road fund, but only saved 97 cents a year as the result of improved roads.

The estimates were compiled through scientific data on the savings of motor cars in decreased depreciation and higher gas, oil and tire mileage as the result of better highways.

A total of 956 miles of highways were constructed on the state system during 1927 at a cost of $15,456,500, it is also pointed out in the report. This included 141.8 miles of 18-foot concrete at a cost of $4,807,000; 73.9 miles of 9-foot concrete at a cost of $1,129,000; 366 miles of gravel surfacing at a cost of $3,711,000 and 359 miles of grading at a cost of $5,087,000.

CITY TO BUY DUMP GROUND

ARRANGEMENTS MADE FOR PURCHASE OF THREE ACRES.

FILLS LONG FELT NEED

Another Ordinance to Be Passed Providing Regulations for Its Use, Mayor Announces.

At last Maryville has a place to deposit refuse.

A three-acre tract of land in the northeast part of the city, which is entered from the east by Fourteenth street, has been purchased by the city from John L. Porter. An ordinance directing the mayor to make the purchase was introduced at a meeting of the city council last night, and it will come up for final passage by the council in seven days.

Arrangements for the purchase of the tract have been completed with the owner for $1,500 consideration.

Acquisition by the city of a tract of land to which citizens might carry their refuse has been a need here for years, Mayor Garrett said today, and he has been desirious of obtaining a place for the city for this purpose ever since he has been in office.

The next thing, the mayor said, is to provide a means of disposing of the garbage.

A city ordinance will follow the one now awaiting final passage, the mayor said, which will contain regulations for the disposal ground. Although the details have not been definitely arranged, Mayor Garrett said it was the plan now to open the grounds twice or three times a week to the public. A caretaker will be on the grounds these days to direct the dumping of refuse. All refuse which can be burned will be placed in a large incinerator.

The city had not been able to acquire the land earlier, as Mr. Porter only recently came into possession of the tract. He will retain the east three acres, and the city buys the west three acres.

The tract is a natural place for a disposal ground, Mr. Garrett said, as there are no houses nearby, the land is low and drains away from the city. The exact description of the land follows:

Commencing 53 1-3 rods east of the northwest corner of section 17, in township 64, range 35, running south 40 rods, east 26 2-3 rods, north 40 rods and west to place of beginning.

The purpose, the ordinance reads, is "to provide for the purchase of a tract of land to be used to improve the health and sanitary conditions of Maryville."

NEXT SESSION BUSY ONE FOR COUNTY COURT

County Appointments to Be Made and Semi-Annual Settlement Made With Treasurer.

The county court will have a busy session next Monday when the judges come here for the regular monthly meeting.

The county appointments are to be made sometime next week, together with the semi-final settlement of the county treasurer and the routine matter of passing on bills.

No talk has been heard as to any changes in the county appointive offices, of which there are seven. Only three applications for appointments have been received by Fred Wright, county clerk, and these are for the janitorship of the courthouse.

The presumption is that all the officers will be re-appointed next week by the court. Those now holding appointive offices are:

Dr. C. P. Fryer, county health officer and county physician.

Miss Margaret Davison, county health nurse.

George Brown, superintendent of the infirmary.

M. A. Peery, title examiner.

Joseph E. Reese, highway engineer.

Charles E. Stilwell, tax attorney.

Henry Thorp, janitor of the courthouse.

THUMBS DOWN ON ALL WETS

W. C. T. U. SPEAKER FLAYS EVEN THE MOIST CANDIDATE.

IS OPPOSED TO BEER

"Give Them That and They'd Want Hard Liquor, Too," Says Mrs. Nellie G. Burger.

Kansas City, Mo., Feb. 2.—Governor Smith of New York, Senator Reed of Missouri and Governor Ritchie of Maryland were placed on the "Black List" of presidential candidates by Mrs. Ella A. Boole, national president of the W. C. T. U., in an address here today.

Mrs. Boole said these men have made it impossible for loyal "drys" to support them because of their attitude on the prohibition question.

Mrs. Boole, who is a native of New York, devoted much of her speech to a denunciation of Smith as a presidential candidate.

"During his administration (Smith's) the state enforcement code was repealed," Mrs. Boole said, "and I know personally that the dry law has not been enforced," she added.

"Governor Smith is known to favor 2.75 per cent beer and modification of the Volstead law.

"For these reasons, no matter what he said, we could not expect a law to be enforced by a man who does not believe in it," Mrs. Boole said.

Kansas City, Mo., Feb. 2.—Dripping wet candidates for political office and others not so wet were flayed by Mrs. Nellie G. Burger of Springfield, Mo., in an address today before a conference of W. C. T. U. workers here.

Mrs. Burger, assistant recording secretary of the national W. C. T. U. took a stand against those who believe the millenium will be reached if the parch-lipped public is given its beer. Her audience consisted of delegates from Missouri, Kansas, Iowa and Oklahoma.

"No, the public wouldn't be satisfied," she declared. "Give them beer and they'd want hard liquor too. Why should we open the door to the chief sinners of them all. Ninety per cent of the liquor sold in old saloon days was beer and the cause of the major crimes."

She warned against placing too much faith in political candidates who argue that prohibition has caused more drinking among young people and in colleges.

There is a well defined tide of sentiment against youth today, she declared, and the "liquor crowd" is using it to defame young people and discredit prohibition. "The poll of college publication editors and of college

WON'T TELL OF OIL DEAL

STANDARD OIL HEAD REFUSES DETAILS TO COMMITTEE.

TO CHARGE CONTEMPT

Robert W. Stewart to Be Given One More Chance to Say Where $3,000,000 Profits Went.

Washington, Feb. 2. — Robert W. Stewart, chairman of the Indiana Standard Oil Company board, refused to tell the Senate Teapot Dome committee today what he knew about the mysterious disposition of $3,000,000 profits of the Continental Trading Company.

"I never got a dollar out of the deal personally," Stewart said. "I never gave any of the bonds to any political party, any government official or any official of any municipality.

"Further than that I must decline an answer."

Senator Walsh of Montana announced the committee would give Stewart another chance to answer tomorrow and that if he persisted, contempt proceedings would be begun against him. He would either be taken into custody or cited to the district attorney for court contempt action, Walsh indicated.

Big Profit Without Handling.

The Continental firm made its money by buying millions of barrels of oil at $1.50 a barrel and without handling the oil sold it immediately at $1.75 a barrel. Stewart testifield he had bought some of this oil from Continental, but only because he thought it was cheap. He said he was not concerned with what the Continental made out of the deal.

Stewart told the committee he was squeezed into the Continental deal. He wanted the oil handled by Continental and he knew Continental was getting it at $1.50 a barrel "but some one"—he thought it was H. M. Blackmer, missing oil witness, told him that he had to pay $1.75 a barrel to get it. That was in the New York hotel room where Stewart and Harry Sinclair signed a $50,000,000 guarantee for the Continental contract.

He refused to answer whether he knew who received any of the Continental bond profits, or whether he had discussed the bond transactions with Sinclair.

Guaranteed Contract.

Stewart admitted he guaranteed the contract whereby the Continental made the $3,000,000 profits the committee is tracing but said he had to do it to get the oil.

"It was just like guaranteeing a note after the note is paid," Stewart said.

For that reason he joined with Harry Sinclair, he said, to consumate the deal.

From these $3,000,000 profits, the committee already has learned that Sinclair sent $233,000 to former Secretary of Interior Fall after Fall had leased Teapot Dome to Sinclair.

Stewart said he heard A. E. Humphreys of the Mexia Field, after a pure oil deal, was willing to sell the other half of his out-put.

Below Market Price.

"I didn't know what they were going to make out of it. I didn't care, because I knew that the market price of oil was $2.

"That oil was cheap at $1.75 and we wanted it."

The Continental company, it has been shown, bought the oil for 25 cents per barrel less and the committee is seeking to ascertain where the rest of the profits went.

Stewart showed traces of temper; ordered a news photographer not to take his picture on the stand; was obviously disturbed by the proximity of newspaper men to the witness chair; and resisted Walsh whenever they differed on interpretations of his testimony.

The statute of limitations has expired, and Stewart cannot be prosecuted for any information he may give the committee.

A contract worth $5,000,000 was bought by oil men in the continental trading company deal for $400,000, E. C. Seubert, president of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana, told the Senate committee.

Seubert said that after the continental had made $3,000,000 profits from the contract under which it was to buy 50,000,000 barrels of Mexia oil, it sold the contract to the Sinclair Crude Oil Purchasing Company and the Prairie Oil and Gas Company.

The remainder of the contract was worth $5,000,000 but the deal was made for $400,000.

Suit Filed Against Oklahoma Governor

Woman Asks $10,000 as Result of Accident in Which Johnston's Car Figured.

Oklahoma City, Feb. 2.—Governor Henry S. Johnston was charged with running over a traffic stop line, speeding, failure to have a driver's license and failure to stop after an accident in a $10,000 suit filed in district court here today.

The suit was filed by Mrs. Jane Goldfarb, and is based upon an accident on the night of December 27 last in which the Goldfarb car and the Governor's car figured. Mrs. Goldfarb asks $10,000 damages.

The petition alleged the Governor was driving 35 to 40 miles an hour across the street intersection where the cars collided. The petition charged the Governor left the scene "at a high rate of speed."

TO SIDETRACK SHIPPING BILL

HOUSE LIKELY TO BURY MEASURE COOLIDGE OPPOSES.

FAVOR RADIO BOARD

Report Favorable to Extending Life of Body—Probe of Public Utilities Predicted by Senate Action.

Washington, Feb. 2.—House administration leaders laid plans today to shelve the Jones Bill passed by the Senate providing for continued government operation of the merchant fleet. It appears they will be successful in preventing its report from the House merchant marine committee to which it will be referred.

They will exert pressure to have the committee report a substitute bill looking toward private operation of the government ships. If it develops later that House sentiment is strong enough to pass the Jones bill as it came from the Senate, it is believed the shipping issue will be laid away quietly.

If, however, amendments can be tacked on which would modify the bill, leaders may allow passage in that form, thus throwing the whole matter into conference between the two houses, where it might die or come out in some acceptable form. President Coolidge, who opposes the bill has the veto to kill it, but leaders do not like to put the issue up to him.

Favorable for Radio Board.

Washington, Feb. 2.—A bill extending the life of the Federal Radio Commission to March 15, 1929, was reported favorably by the Senate interstate commerce commission. Under the present law, the commission would have expired on March 15, this year.

The bill further provides that broadcasting licenses may not be issued for a period exceeding six months.

Press Third Term Action.

The resolution to express the Senate's opinion that third presidential terms are dangerous will be pressed for action as soon as advisable, Senator LaFollette of Wisconsin announced. He had hoped originally to bring it up today.

May Probe Public Utilities.

An extensive senatorial investigation of the public utilities industry was predicted by advocates of such an inquiry today following committee action on the Walsh resolution.

The interstate commerce committee authorized a favorable report on the resolution with only minor amendments.

As modified, the measure calls for investigation by a committee of five senators into all public utility companies engaged in interstate commerce and all holding companies with stock in two or more utility concerns operating in different states.

Instruct Ballot Counting.

Representatives of all interested parties in the Wilson-Vare election contest were summoned before a senate privileges and elections subcommittee today for instruction in the technique of counting ballots.

Prominent Democrat of Kansas City Dies

Kansas City, Mo., Feb. 2.—Thomas A. Shepard, 51 years old, former representative in the State legislature, died at his home here today. He had been ill four years and had been virtually bedfast the last year. To his friends and political associates here and at Jefferson City he was known as "Senator Tom." He was a familiar figure at all Democratic assemblies.

TOO TERRIBLE FOR THE JURY

JUDGE HAS TO ORDER RECESS IN HICKMAN TRIAL.

MURDER IS DESCRIBED

Both Men and Women Jurors Pale at Gruesome Details, Cited to Prove Insanity.

Court Room, Los Angeles, Feb. 2.—Fearing collapse of four women on the jury trying William Edward Hickman for the murder of 12-year-old Marion Parker, after pictures of the child's dismembered body had been shown them, Judge J. J. Trabucco ordered a recess here today.

Mrs. Emily Lindstrom swayed slightly in her chair and was on the verge of breaking down when District Attorney Asa Keyes handed her a glass of water.

The defense today followed up its unusual tactics of outlining the murder in an effort to prove by the very nature of his brutal acts that Hickman was insane.

Pictures Shown Jury.

Pictures of the dismembered body of the little school girl were submitted by the defense as evidence in support of their contention that Hickman was insane at the time of the crime.

The pictures were passed to the jury after they had been identified through the testimony of George Watson, photographer for the Los Angeles Times.

Men and women members of the jury alike paled as they looked at the exhibits.

High officials of the Los Angeles police department and other state witnesses formed a parade into the witness box at the early session and the gruesome details of the Parker murder were repeated over and over again.

Former Pal Testifies.

Welby Hunt, former pal of "The Fox," made his appearance and related what he knew of the habits of "The Fox." The tall, lanky kid bandit related how at one time Hickman told him he had an uncontrolable desire to kill and dismember a body.

The horrifying details of the murder were told today by chief of detectives, Herman Cline and inspector Dwight Longuevan. They told of Hickman's fits in the Pendleton jail and declared that the acts were feigned.

Both witness declared that Hickman acted rationally at all times and expressed the belief that he was sane under cross-examination by district attorney Asa Keyes.

F. R. Peck, diminutive man from whom Hickman took a Hudson coach in a Hollywood hold-up and made his escape in it, said that Hickman appeared jovial during the robbery and district attorney Asa Keyes called attention to the smile on Hickman's face and asked if he "looked like that."

The story of how Hickman lured Marion Parker from school on the pretext that her father was ill was told the jury by Naomi Britton, a teacher at the Mount Vernon Junior High School, Los Angeles.

Confession Moves Jury.

Whether the unexpected move by the defense in introducing Hickman's confession yesterday aided in the insanity defense or served to bring the slayer one step closer to the gallows was debated today.

The members had heard details of Hickman's confession heretofore undisclosed, including the admission of the slayer that the child was still living when he dismembered her body.

Hickman's confession to the crime was followed by a "motive confession" in which he purported to give the reasons for the murder.

The reasons were listed as follows:

1—He feared he was in danger of being trapped and although he believed Marion had confidence in him, yet he was afraid that the little girl might suddenly distrust him and make an outcry that would lead to his arrest.

"Some Kind of Complex."

2—He said he had been suffering from "some kind of a complex" for several years, the nature of which he was unable definitely to describe.

He declared he had been unable to find any practical application of religion and had had a desire to kill.

THE ONLY DAILY PAPER IN NODAWAY COUNTY

Governor Baker's special road committee finally got together late Saturday evening, after being deadlocked all afternoon, and agreed on a proposition to submit to the people. From a hurried reading it looks like a good proposition and one that we can well afford to support. It reduces the bond issue to $75,000,000 but retains the feature that prevents an increase in gasoline tax for a period of at least ten years. The proposition, however, will be worked out in detail by a special committee appointed for that purpose.

Magpies, Like Taxes, Nuisance to Farmers

They Steal Eggs and Sometimes Kill Chickens, Reports to Department of Agriculture Say.

Washington, Feb. 2.—Magpies, famous in nursery rhymes, are getting bad reputations among farmers, according to the Agriculture Department.

Once magpies were considered beneficial around farms as their diet included injurious insects, but investigations by government experts showed them to be arrant rogues.

Magpies steal eggs from chicken yards to carry to their young and sometimes kill chickens. They show great partiality to cherry orchards.

The worst offense of the birds is carrying weak or wounded animals and even occasionally sound and healthy creatures. Its method of killing game is torturesome—pecking and enlarging a wound of an animal, finally resulting in death.

When magpies have become a nuisance the Agriculture Department recommends poisoning or shooting of the birds. They have no aversion to strychnine so this poison makes the best bait.

Lindbergh Arrives at San Juan Today

Goes to Santo Domingo Saturday—To Havana Wednesday—Then Home.

San Juan, Porto Rico, Feb. 2.—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh arrived at 1:40 p. m. local time today in his "Spirit of St. Louis," after a 75-mile flight from St. Thomas, Virgin Islands.

Lindbergh's flight was the shortest of his tour.

He planned to spend Thursday and Friday in San Juan, and to leave for Santo Domingo Saturday morning.

From Santo Domingo Col. Lindbergh was to go to Haiti Monday, preparatory to a flight to Havana next Wednesday—the final stage of his good will tour—to attend the Pan-American conference.

To St. Louis February 13.

St. Louis, Mo., Feb. 2.—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh plans to arrive back in St. Louis on Monday, February 13, he advised friends here by cablegram from St. Thomas, Virgin Islands.

After his return, he said, he hopes to make an acquaintance-renewing flight over the air-mail routes on which he was employed before embarking on his epochal tours.

Robertson sent a cablegram to Lindbergh today at Santo Domingo advising him that February 20, the date Lindbergh suggested for the air mail trip was acceptable.

"He can do anything he wants to", Robertson said.

"I understand he plans a non-stop flight direct from Havana to St. Louis, arriving here on the 13th," Robertson told the United Press today.

Engle Trial May Go Over Until Tomorrow

Defense Continues to Place Witnesses On Stand Today, the third Day Since Trial Started.

The third day of the trial of the First Trust Company of Savannah and Mrs. S. R. Scleeman of Savannah against Milton Engle, administrator of the Jesse Engle & Sons co-partnership estate for the collection of a $6,000 note, indicated that the trial would continue tomorrow.

The plaintiffs concluded their testimony yesterday afternoon, but the defense was still putting witnesses on the stand this afternoon and it was doubtful whether the introduction of evidence would be completed today. A night session was in prospect when it was stated that two witnesses from the bank at Sheridan could not leave the bank at the same time.

Milton Engle was on the stand part of the morning and when the taking of testimony was resumed this afternoon.

Judgment was rendered in favor of the plaintiff for $1,277.20 on a note at 7 per cent interest and $127.72 attorney fees in the case of McRobert Brothers against R. I. Bilby and James E. Strickler.

A suit on two notes was filed this morning by the First Trust Company of Savannah against F. O. Wilson for $72.60 and $750, alleged to have been made July 2, 1925. Attorney fees of $75 are asked.

Mrs. Burger quoted chief justice Taft to back up her assertion that prohibition is not responsible for the wave of crime in Chicago and other large centers. Taft said: "The crime in Chicago is the result of a crime trust regularly organized, involving police, members of the bar, public prosecutors and public officers and even judges."

And as for planting the Quebec system on American soil and thereby drive bootleggers out of business, the speaker put thumbs down on the proposition.

"There bootlegging has doubled—Ontario reports blind tigers increased 3,000. Saloons have been changed to taverns and illicit resorts are increasing. Arrests and business failures have increased and the public debt has doubled.

Mrs. Burger gave no quarter to "only slightly" moist political candidates. "They must be kept out of office the same as the dripping wets," she declared.

CITY BALANCE SETS RECORD

$76,523 LARGEST EVER ATTAINED, IT IS BELIEVED.

A GRADUAL INCREASE

Most of City Taxes Paid.—Two Police Court Cases, Seven Fires, Many Library Readers.

The balance in the city treasury last night was the largest perhaps in the history of Maryville at any rate it had reached the largest figure that could be remembered by Mayor W. O. Garrett. His financial report to the city council gave a total balance of $76,523.85. The increase in the balance is due to the influx of city taxes, the greatest part of which are now paid.

The balance on the first of any February in the last four years never has reached $76,523.85, and the financial condition of the city has been in better shape since the change in form of government than ever before. The balance at this time last year was $71,568; in 1926 it was $69,281 and in 1925 it was $67,462.

The water department fund last night was the largest of any of the city funds, $41,238.30. The balances in the other funds were: street fund, $2,260.89; library fund, $2,998.19; general fund, $19,606.43; first water bond, $677.47; street workers' guarantee, $351; street lighting, $4,537.73; and second water bond fund, $4,853.84.

The report of the tax collector for the month of January shows that $7,814 in taxes were paid.

There were only two cases in police court last month, according to the report of Judge Joseph H. Sayler, Police judge, for which fines of $11 were assessed. One was for drunkenness and the other for disturbing the peace.

The fire department was called to seven fires during the month, Fire Chief Claude Stults reported to the city council. They were as follows:

Jan. 1, Mrs. E. B. Bradley, 530 West Third street.

Jan. 4, C. D. Bellows, 420 South Fillmore street.

Jan. 15, Gex Keene, 1301 East Third street.

Jan. 17, Mrs. Mattie Masters, 722 South Fillmore street.

Jan. 19, C. J. Merrigan, 617 North Vine street.

Jan. 28, Carl Wiles, 221 West Jenkins street.

Jan. 31, Art Dowden, 302 East First street.

Mr. Stults, who also is weigh master, reported receipts of $22 from the city scales.

The city library reported an increase in the number of books loaned during the month and also in the number of readers, according to the report of Miss Grace Langan, librarian. Her report showed that of the 2,018 books and magazines loaned, 704 were to juveniles, 1,185 to adult readers, and 129 magazines, for an average of 78 a day. Forty-two reader cards were issued.

Eight hundred and ten persons used the periodical room, 280 the children's room and there were 80 Sunday readers, a total of 1,440 readers in the library reading rooms in the month. Collections were $18.85.

Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Hoops, Bedford, Ia., were in Maryville yesterday.

Hart House String Quartet First Major Musical Concert

The first major musical concert which the Northwest Missouri State Teachers College offers this year will be the Hart House String Quartet, a Canadian organization, which will appear here on Thursday evening, February 16. The artists are all of notable excellence.

The claim is made for the four members of the quartet that they give individuality to their music. Geza De Kresz, who formerly led his own quartet in Bucharest, for the late Queen Carmen Sylvia, will be heard here. Then there is Boris Hambourg, the celebrated cellist who has played a conspicuous part in the musical life of London. Harry Adaskin and Milton Blackstone have the qualities essential to quartet playing in the highest form.

The Hart House String Quartet takes its name from Hart House, which was built and presented to the University of Toronto by the Massey Foundation as a unique center of fine arts. During the past season the quartet gave seventy-four concerts, covering a territory from the Atlantic coast to the Rocky Mountains.

Laura Townsley McCoy, coloratura soprano, who was assisting artist to Madame Ernestine Schumann-Heink on her Golden Jubilee Tour, will appear in concert later in the season.

HE SEES HIS SHADOW; MORE WINTER AHEAD

Groundhog Couldn't Miss It Here Today.—But It Won't Be So Bad If Like Present.

Unless the groundhog is totally blind, he saw his shadow here today, and Maryville and Nodaway county are doomed to endure a full six weeks more of winter.

But if it is winter like that of the past month, let it come, while California turns green with envy.

Reports from other sections:

St. Louis, Mo., Feb. 2.—Underground reports from woodchucks in eastern Missouri and Southern Illinois indicated today they were preparing for six weeks more subterraneously. The sun was shining brightly.

Kansas City, Mo., Feb. 2.—The sun was shining when the ground hog came out of his burrow here today. Believers in the ground hog tradition declared there will be six weeks more winter.

Dallas, Tex., Feb. 2.—Mr. Ground Hog stood a poor chance of seeing his shadow here today, the day dawned cloudy.

St. Paul, Minn., Feb. 2.—The sun is doing everything in its power to enable the ground hog to sleep another six weeks in the Northwest.

Cloudless skies prevailed over much of the region today.

New York, Feb. 2.—Eastern woodchucks celebrated their festal candlemas today by coming out from under a white blanket shaking the snow out of their whiskers and seeing their shadows.

In most eastern sections shadows were light gray, and hazy, but experts said the shadows were distinct enough to send the little groundhogs back into the ground for another six weeks of hibernation.

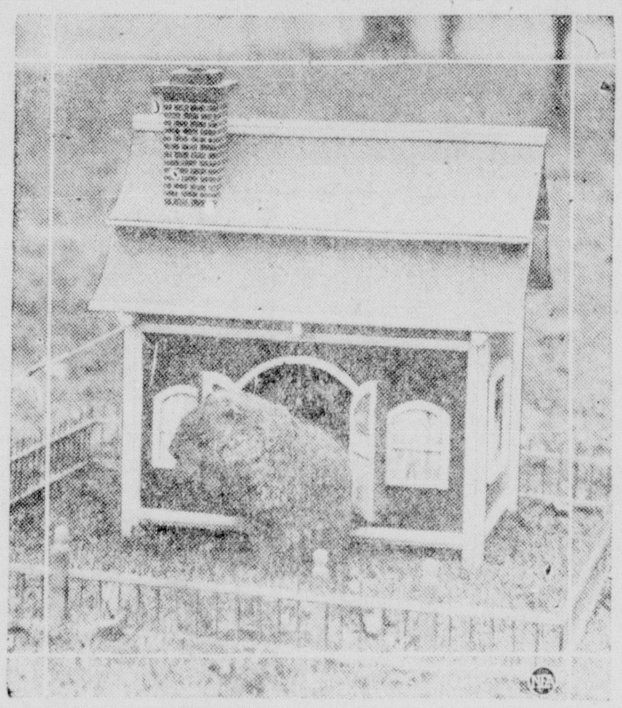
"Me and My Shadow" --By the Groundhog



Arctomys Monax, alias woodchuck, alias groundhog, in the yard of his pretty home—a photo from the family album.

By ARCTOMYS MONAX
For NEA Service

I never have been able to learn the identity of the person who fastened on me the reputation of being a weather forecaster. But whoever it was, the thing has gone far enough.

I want to make one final and unqualified denial that me and my shadow have anything to do with the end of winter and the coming of spring. The idea is too ridiculous for words.

For one thing, they say I never wake up from my winter slumber until the second day of February. That's pure canard. I'm no such sleepy head. See the picture that accompanies this article—the one of me and my suburban home? Well, it's an old one out of the family album, and it was taken, I remember, on the twentieth of January.

Time after time this talk that I'm a weather regulator has been disproved. But still people hang on to the old hokum. How can they be so silly?

I might say that I'm writing this piece mainly as a matter of justice to the U. S. Weather Bureau. If you really want to know what sort of weather there's going to be after February 2, ask your nearest meterologist. If he tells you wrong, don't blame the groundhog.

May Prospect for Oil Near Hopkins

Community Club Is Told Oklahoma Company Will Drill If Leases Are Offered.

Hopkins may again prospect for oil and at a recent meeting of the Hopkins Community Club, George Ulmer, jr., Frank Litsch and Dr. D. A. Sargent were appointed as a committee to push the project, according to the Hopkins Journal.

Dr. Sargent, who recently visited in Oklahoma, told of discussing the matter with a big Oklahoma company. The company offers to come and prospect without any cost whatsoever to the Hopkins people. All they ask is the lease of eight to ten thousand acres of land, with one-eighty royalty to the owners if oil is found.

The Community Club decided Hopkins will hold another big picnic next fall and will push for other things to help Hopkins and vicinity the coming year. The board of directors elected by the organization was A. F. Mutti, Fred Gray, E. A. Miller, Frank New, Jr., and Wray Mahan. Mr. New was elected president of the board with Mr. Mahan as secretary.

Sixty-seven persons attended the meeting and all decided the Community Club has proven itself worth while.

The Blazing Horizon

COPYRIGHT 1927 BY NEA SERVICE — FICTION — By ERNEST LYNN

THE STORY THUS FAR

The story is laid in the Indian territory and along the Kansas border in the '80's, when a fight was being waged for the opening of the territory to settlement.

Chief characters are:

TONY HARRISON, orphaned at 8 when his father was shot in a poker game;

PAWNEE BILL, adventurer, teacher, Indian interpurter, showman;

JOE CRAIG, who takes Tony to the Bar K ranch to live;

TITUS MOORE, owner of the Bar K brand;

RITA, his little tomboy daughter.

Some years later, when Rita and her mother depart for the east and a finishing school, the boy learns for the first time how much he cares for Titus Moore's red-haired, arrogant daughter.

Moore is one of the chief opponents of the movement to open Oklahoma. Word is received that DAVID PAYNE, leader of the movement is dead, and Tony, in his loyalty to Moore, is troubled because of his sympathy for Payne's cause.

He tries to forget Rita Moore and accompanies Pawnee Bill and BUFFALO BILL on a wild west show tour. When he returns, Rita comes back for a visit and Tony is forlorn in the knowledge of his hopeless love for her. Finally, in desperation, he declares his love for her. When she tearfully admits she is engaged to another, he leaves the ranch and disappears.

A letter from Craig, forwarded by Pawnee Bill, finally reaches him in Chicago and he learns that Rita has promised herself to another man to please her mother, who is an invalid. He is miserable, but harshly resentful toward Rita.

CHAPTER 36

He often fretted at such an existence, but reflecting that it was of his own shaping, he grimly stuck it out, refusing to make any friends, nursing his bitter thoughts in the solitude of his room, on lonely walks along the lake front, or leaning on the bar in some saloon.

He told himself it would be better to forget the old life entirely, to go far away from it, find a new interest, but he was not able to down an insatiable longing that came over him to feel leather beneath him once more and a prairie wind whipping his face. Besides he had given his word to Pawnee Bill; before there could be a clean break he would first have to serve out his season with the new show. Pawnee Bill was depending upon him; insisted, even, that he could not do without him.

Once in a particularly despondent mood, he wired his long-haired friend to ask if he could not get along without him. That evening he went to bed early, feeling feverish, and the next day was unable to get up. Some days later he awoke from a delirium to find Pawnee Bill at his bedside.

"Decided to get well, did you?" he smiled at Tony. "Son, you've had a tough time of it?"

"What's the matter?" he inquired in a weak voice. "Am I sick?"

"Pneumonia; that's all. I gathered from the landlady that you had a habit of taking long walks along the lake in the rain. It didn't do you any good."

Tony smiled and turned his face to the wall and slept.

"About that telegram of yours," Pawnee Bill resumed when he was able to sit up and talk. "If you can benefit by steering away from me I'll be satisfied. However, I'm thinking you need a guardian. I've been told that you and John Barleycorn have been on real familiar terms. Son, you'll have to cut that out or find yourself in a smashup. Speaking of guardians, I heard from Joe Craig a week or so ago and he's plumb anxious to find you. But I didn't tell him where he could locate you; I sort of figured you didn't want me to do that . . . What happened down at the Bar K, anyway. You and Craig have a falling out?"

Tony shook his head and enlightened him no further.

Pawnee Bill regarded him shrewdly. "Whatever it was, it ain't as bad as you think. You're young, and time has a way of healing a sight of trouble.

"Maybe you don't realize it," he continued, "but you and my Indians will be the backbone of my show. You've got the best seat on a horse of any man I know; and with that stallion of yours and your ability to shoot and rope, I'm planning to feature you plenty. . . . The young daredevil of the plains," he mused, as if he had been turning the phase over in his mind, and met Tony's exclamation of scorn with a laugh.

"All right; turn up your nose. I'm showman enough to know a good thing when I see it.

"Before another year rolls around," he resumed with a change of tone, "you'll see some real action on this Oklahoma thing. Public sentiment has reached the point where trouble's just ready to pop if Washington doesn't hurry up and do something. I've been approached a couple of times on a proposition to lead the Boomers and keep things moving, but I've turned 'em down. Meanwhile, though, I've tried to help the cause, you might say."

He pushed back his chair and strode over to the open window. Tony, leaning against his pillows, regarded him in silence—a sturdy, romantic looking figure with the wind whipping through his heavy mane of hair and his keen eyes flashing as he turned them toward the lake. A strong man, Tony reflected, and purposeful.

Two days later Pawnee Bill departed. "I've got a million things to do. For one thing, I've got to line up my Indians and try to stay out of jail while I'm doing it. And I've got negotiations under way with Charlie Southwell—he's manager of the Broad Street Theater in Philadelphia—to go in partnership with him. He's had a lot of experience. We'll be opening in the east—maybe Philadelphia. Meanwhile you're to take things easy till you hear from me. I don't want to lay eyes on you again until everything's in shape."

Tony did not hear from him until a month later, when he hurried to Philadelphia in response to Pawnee Bill's wire that everything was in readiness. Even Cherokee was there, Lillie informed him proudly.

There was a week of rehearsing, and then the show opened. In the press notices there was liberal mention of a young dare-devil who performed miracles with a rope and greater miracles with a gun and who rode like a fiend on a big black stallion.

For a time Tony was satisfied. The life was exciting and at first he found it pleasant to read about himself in the newspapers. Then it settled down to monotony.

Money was not coming in as fast as Pawnee Bill had anticipated. "And I can't understand it," he confessed with a shake of his head. "We've got a good show and the weather on the whole has been favorable; I guess it just must be a bad year. We've got a chance to hop down to Washington for a few days. There's a convention there, and a fair, and I'm hoping to clean up. We'll have to cancel a few dates here and there, because it's not on our schedule, but I'm in favor of doing it."

It was a wise move. Business in Washington was good; so good, in fact, that at the conclusion of their three-day stand Pawnee Bill declared the next day a holiday.

"You can roam around and amuse yourselves," he told the performers. "Personally, I'm going to look after the Indians to see that they don't go on the warpath."

Later he expressed a very profound regret that he had not looked after Tony Harrison instead.

Joe Stevens, one of the cowboys with the show, whom Tony liked very well because he talked so little, sought out Harrison as the latter was currying Cherokee and invited him to be his holiday companion. "I've got a real longing to see some of the sights here," he announced; "besides which, I've got a brother-in-law who's a bartender in a saloon at the food of Capitol Hill."

He went on to explain that the brother-in-law had begged him to drop in with some of his friends. "He'll be real sore if I don't, but I don't want to take a crowd; there's always so much noise."

Tony consented; it would be better than wandering off some place by himself. Clad in full cowboy regalio they rode their horses into the center of town and hitched them outside the little saloon. Stevens' brother-in-law made much of their visit and insisted on their accepting the hospitality of the house.

"Your money is counterfeit as long as you're here," he announced loudly. "Step up and name it. Boys," he cried to all who might hear, "meet my brother-in-law and his friend, Mr. Harrison. This one's on the house."

Two hours later Tony decided that they must go. Joe Stevens, whose taciturnity had dropped from him like an old garment under the influence of his brother-in-law's best bourbon, demurred at first, but Tony had a convincing argument.

"You said you wanted to see the sights, didn't you? Here it is nearly four o'clock. It'll be sundown, first thing you know."

There was logic in that, Stevens admitted. "We'll ride up the hill and take a look at the Capitol first. Then we'll ride down Pennsylvania avenue and take a peek at the White House. I've always wanted to see the White House."

"If you have any trouble with the police," his brother-in-law advised him, "just tell 'em you're friends of mine."

"What for?" asked Stevens truculently. "If they get sassy I'll brand 'em." He and Tony walked out a little unsteadily, threw uncertain legs over their saddles and headed their horses up the hill.

A capitol guard smiled broadly as he watched them ride slowly through the grounds. Stevens was all for dismounting and making a thorough inspection of the building, but Tony dissuaded him. "We won't have time, Joe. A man could spend a whole day in that capitol there, and probably not see it all then. There's a lot of sightseeing ahead of us yet. Come on," and he led the way back down the hill at a run.

As they rode west along Pennsylvania avenue, people paused on the sidewalks to stare after them. Washington, accustomed as it was to strange sights, did not often see chap-clad, tall-hatted cowboys tearing down its main street. Midway between the capitol and the White House, Joe Stevens slid his horse to an abrupt halt and shaded his eyes with his hand in an elaborate gesture.

"Injuns, Tony!" he announced in a melodramatic whisper.

Tony looked and laughed. Stevens was staring at a cigar store Indian.

"You throw him and I'll heel him," Stevens said, "and we'll drag him up the avenoo." In another second his rope was in his hand.

Tony hesitated. He was sober enough to know better, but an imp of recklessness whispered to him to go ahead. With a laugh he swung his rope. The loop descended over the wooded Indian and pulled it to the ground as Cherokee moved on and the rope tightened.

(To Be Continued)

In the midst of his foolish escapade Tony sees the last person in the world he would want to meet. In the next chapter.

Help Kidneys By Drinking More Water

Take Salts to Flush Kidneys and Help Neutralize Irritating Acids

Kidney and bladder irritations often result from acidity, says a noted authority. The kidneys help filter this acid from the blood and pass it on to the bladder, where it may remain to irritate and inflame, causing a burning, scalding sensation, or setting up an irritation at the neck of the bladder, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night. The sufferer in constant dread; the water passes sometimes with a scalding sensation and is very profuse; again, there is difficulty in voiding it.

Bladder weakness, most folks call it because they can't control urination. While it is extremely annoying and sometimes very painful, this is often one of the most simple ailments to overcome. Begin drinking lots of soft water, also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from your pharmacist and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast. Continue this for two or three days. This will help neutralize the acids in the system so they no longer are a source of irritation to the bladder and urinary organs, which then act normal again.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is used by thousands of folks who are subject to urinary disorders caused by acid irritation. Jad Salts causes no bad effects whatever.

Here you have a pleasant, effervescent lithia-water drink which may help relieve your bladder irritation.

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

Night Air Mail Planes Through Missouri Now

Path of Light 955 Miles Long Is Provided on Chicago-Kansas City-Dallas Route.

Kansas City, Mo., Feb. 2.—Another chapter in air mail history has been written with opening of night air mail service from Chicago through Kansas City to Dallas, Tex.

The first plane to traverse the new aerial highway of the National Air Transport, Inc., was welcomed at new Richards Field here by a delegation from the chamber of commerce at 1 o'clock this morning.

The plane took off at Chicago at 8 o'clock last night. Ten minutes after it arrived in Kansas City it took off for Dallas, piloted by R. L. Dobie. The trip to Dallas was expected to take six hours.

A path of light 995 miles long was turned on with the start of the new night service. On the route there are seventy-five 240-inch revolving electric beacons and many lesser lights. They were installed by the airways division of the department of commerce.

The new service is the second night air mail and express route in the United States. The first was the transcontinental air mail route passing through Omaha, which has been in operation three years.

Wealthy Farmer Dies of Injury by Bandits

Springfield, Mo., Feb. 2.—Injuries inflicted by two bandits the night of January 24 proved fatal for James Webster, 50, wealthy Camden County farmer, here early today.

Blood poisoning resulting from gunshot wounds in the left arm caused his death.

Webster was shot in the left arm by two bandits when he refused them money. He is said to have made a statement to members of his family in which he named the two men before he died.

Al Smith Policies Assailed by McAdoo

A Wet in the White House Would Mean End to 18th Amendment, He Declares.

Richmond, Va., Feb. 2.—Prohibition policies of Gov. Al Smith of New York were assailed by William G. McAdoo, candidate for the 1924 Democratic presidential nomination, in a speech to the Virginia anti-saloon league here last night.

McAdoo predicted that an end would be written to the 18th amendment if a wet were elected president.

"The White House in the hands of the liquor interests would be a veritable Gibraltar of offensive operations, and the doom of the 18th amendment would be written boldly on the face of the Constitution," McAdoo said.

McAdoo asserted that Smith had advocated repeal of the state enforcement law and then pledged the police power of the state to enforcement of the federal statute. This position was untenable, McAdoo contended, because the state had "been deprived of the best medium of enforcement."

Fans Skeptical on Dempsey Retirement

Observers Doubt Whether Bad Eye Will Prevent Him From Seeing Large Purses.

Los Angeles, Feb. 2.—Jack Dempsey's injured left eye will not prevent his right one from seeing large purses dangled before him for another bout, sport writers and fight fans believed today.

While the skeptics were busy tearing apart the former heavyweight champion's announcement that he would retire, at least temporarily, Dempsey silenced rumors that his actress wife, Estelle Taylor, had precipitated his action.

"It is entirely up to me whether I fight again," he said. "Whatever I do is all right with my wife."

Elaborating on the eye trouble, Dempsey said:

"The oculist tells me that I probably have had a little hemorrhage which I received when Tunney butted me in the seventh or eighth round of our Chicago fight.

May Be Ballyhoo.

"He thinks I had a nerve cut. The right eye, though, is perfect except when I look down and then it wriggles a little bit."

The more skeptical of the fight fans were inclined to look upon the Manassa mauler's move as a "ballyhoo" for another title fight.

They point out that Dempsey has no desire to go through gruelling training for an elimination tournament and believe he will retire only long enough for champion Gene Tunney to meet one of the most promising luminaries, dispose of him, and prepare the way for another Tunney-Dempsey fight.

784 Cigarettes for Each Person in 1927

He Was Entitled Also to 62 Cigars, Three Pounds of Chewing and Some Snuff.

Washington, Feb. 2.—The average person's allotment of "habits" during 1927 was 784 cigarettes, 62 cigars, three pounds of chewing and smoking tobacco and one-third of a pound of snuff.

The statistics were made public by the treasury today in showing the per capita consumption of articles the government assesses under the federal tobacco tax.

Cigarette consumption has increased 200 per cent in America during the last ten years, and of the 93,000,000,000 fags smoked last year were laid end-to-end they would girdle the earth 160 times, the treasury said.

Americans used 7,387,351,816 cigars, 361,698,798 pounds of smoking and chewing tobacco and 38,151,993 pounds of snuff.

Final Grain Review.

Chicago, Feb. 2.—Wheat and corn worked fractionally higher from an early decline during a quiet session today.

The upturn at mid-session proved to be only a transient rally and all grains declined rapidly during the final hours. Wheat and corn lost the ground they recovered and closed sharply lower. Final figures:

Wheat, ⅝c to 1c lower; corn, ¾c to 1c off and oats, ⅜c to ½c down.

Provisions closed lower.

Wheat showed little change most of the day. The first shipment of good quality Argentine new wheat arrived in Liverpool this morning and prices there took a corresponding drop. Chicago futures followed the decline during the opening hours. Bulls, however, took advantage of the dip to buy and there was a prompt rally when offerings were found to be light. The condition of southwest winter wheat remains still uncertain, although advices continue pessimistic. Export business was flat. Receipts here were 17 cars and cash wheat was unchanged.

Corn was firm, rallying easy from an early dip. Large receipts aided the early decline. Around mid-session, however, cash handlers reported very light offerings of corn to arrive here tomorrow. This steadied the tone of both the cash and futures markets. Southern and central points continue to buy corn, an unusual situation for this time of year. England bought a little corn from seaboard points. Receipts total 497 cars. Cash corn unchanged.

Oats was neglected as usual and followed other grains in a very dull session. Receipts were large at 81 cars which depressed prices slightly. Cash oats was unchanged.

Provisions worked lower.

Barnard Boy to Sing From Station WDAF

Program February 10 Will Be Second in Which Edward P. Nelson Has Appeared.

The second program in which Edward P. Nelson, a Barnard boy, graduate of the Barnard high school in '24, will take part over radio station WDAF (370.2 meters), is to be broadcast from 10 to 10:30 o'clock Friday night, February 10. Nelson is the son of Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Nelson, who live on a farm 2 miles west of Guilford.

Young Nelson is a student in the Dental College of Lincoln and Lee University, Kansas City. He sings second base, is that voice in the club's quartet and is secretary-treasurer. Besides carrying his senior-year studies, working in a dental laboratory at $50 a month to help pay his expenses, and carrying his glee club duties, Nelson plays the trumpet in the orchestra of the Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints at Independence, Mo., every Sunday.

The dental glee club's music is of such merit that the boys were chosen to sing at the most important meeting of the Kansas City Chamber of Commerce this fiscal year. This was the industrial program meeting. The club sings also before churches, lodges, civic clubs and schools.

Pickering Wins From Hopkins Second Time

County Champs Take an Early Lead and Late Rally by Bulldogs Falls Short.

Pickering and Hopkins high school basketball teams met last night for the second time this season, and Pickering won again by a margin of three points, this time counting 21 to Hopkins' 18. The game was played at Hopkins.

Against a re-arranged Hopkins quintet, the Pickering men took an early lead and set the score at the first quarter, 5 to 0, the Hopkins men failing to find the hoop in many tries.

Sayler pierced the Hopkins goal in the second quarter, with a single pointer, and Florea added another 1-pointer before half time. The score at this intermission was 11-2 for Pickering.

By intercepting a pass, Harmon of Pickering began Pickering's scoring at the beginning of the second half. Baker tossed the first Hopkins field basket five minutes after the half began and then again just before the third quarter had closed, which placed the tally at 13 to 6, the Hopkins men showing considerable more vigor, but also revealing a costly inability to find the ring for needed counters at this stage of the game.

Muttie made a last stand in the fourth quarter and boosted the Hopkins score to 14 points for the trailers had closed up the margin to a 5-point difference. Another Pickering goal and two from the Hopkins men in the last few minutes of play closed the game with Pickering still in possession of the longer count. Hopkins scored 16 points to the opponents 10 in the second half, but Pickering substitutes were used near the close.

Pickering is entered in the Clearmont tournament this Saturday. Next week the Nodaway county outdoor champions will take a road trip to Oregon and Fortescue.

The Hopkins team will play at Ravenwood tomorrow night. Next Monday, Burlington Junction will play the Bulldogs at Hopkins. On Feb. 10 Savannah will play at Hopkins. Ted Search has made tentative arrangements with the high school department of the State Teachers College for a game soon.
